Master of Business and Administration at LSBF

The Master of Business Administration (MBA) is an internationally recognised business degree and a valuable qualification for those aiming to become global business leaders. It is academic in nature, yet provides practical preparation for individuals in business and management. Ten or twenty years ago, any MBA might have been enough to secure the best jobs. Today, employers want to know where you studied.

London School of Business & Finance (LSBF) has a history of designing innovative and industry-relevant programmes which answer the questions senior executives face worldwide. This pioneering nature and ongoing quest for excellence was as well the key to forging our dynamic academic partnership with Grenoble Graduate School of Business (GGSB) which has seen the triple accredited, globally ranked GGSB MBA delivered in the heart of London.
